I am typing this this week from the dining room table, as a "bug" has given me the sniffles, a few aches all over and a fever that just stays with me. The folks at the office instructed me to stay away as long as I had whatever I have, and the way it was put to me left no room for argument. It is kinda insulting, however, that the only time they call and ask my advice is when they want to know where I put something -- not how to do this or how to do that . . . they must be trying to tell me I ain't needed!

Sitting or lying around the house with a pounding headache leaves little chance to catch up on that good reading I have been saving for the first good chance I got. I did, however, almost wear out the dial on the idiot box, looking for a good TV show. We have joined with those who complain about the sorry shows on prime time TV, but take my word for it - daytime is worse. We even tried the all-day news channel and C-Span, but both were occupied all day Tuesday with the Ed Meese hearing in Washington. We have heard all the charges and denials before, as have those involved with the event, and just couldn't bring ourself to listen again. We were awaiting one previously announced daytime show on how to better handle your income, make more or whatever - and sure needed that information, but this fever flared up about pay on their own. that time and we slept through the whole thing.

We are scared of the radical new plans for determining teacher pay in Alabama. We see a potential problem of everyone eventually getting the higher ranking, because of peer pressure and the thought that one more won't make that much difference. If a proper balance can be set to prevent any unbalance in either direction, then the merit pay for teachers will be welcomed as a cause long overdue -- a solution.

Senator Foy Covington of Newville in adjoining Dale County was charged last week with DUI. This is not unusual, but what was unusual was that the senator faced up to the charge and apologized to the public. While we don't excuse anyone who drinks and drives, we are happy and pleased to see someone with the backbone to accept the blame when caught. We might note that he ran as an independent against the backroom nominee of the State Democratic Committee.

Football star Doug Flutie has signed a contract to play with the New Jersey Generals for a reported $7 million during the next five years! It is hard for me to believe any player is worth that much, but then when Joe Namath got the unheard of $400,000 bonus to sign with the Jets, we all thought the same; but it was the best investment those folks ever made. We don't resent anyone getting that much money -- in fact we would consider accepting it ourself --but we will be surprised if he does for the Generals what Joe Willie did for the

Sunday in church the preacher was talking about ox yokes and pulling the load. This got me to thinking about a yoke my grandfather gave me as a teenager. I left it in the corn crib at the family farm, but resolved Sunday that it is time to get it. It was a well-used yoke made by Granddaddy himself after he retired from the railroad. Now, one of my grandfathers was a Primitive Baptist preacher, but this one . . well he had no problem finding words for a particular ox that decided to go across the pond rather than across the dam. He has been dead for over 20 years now and this yoke should have an extra Granddaddy Cox and his ox carts inspired me to train me an ox for a cart. I found a set of wheels and an axle from some discarded farm equipment and set about making a cart. After cutting shafts (two small trees) and attaching them to my cart, I decided to start training my steer before finishing the cart. This was just as well because as soon as I hooked that half-grown yearling to my cart he drug me across the yard until I turned loose and pretty soon the wheel from the cart caught the wood pile and the steer left it on top of the wood pile and went back to wherever he was before I decided to put him to work. Never again did I try that adventure.

Hears Coffee History

met January 11, in the home of Mrs. Lena Mae Carroll of New Brockton, with Mrs. Annie Mae Waters as co-hostess. Mrs. Peggy Pless, president, opened the meeting with a short business session, and introduced the guest speaker. Coffee County Probate Judge Marion Brunson, a past educator and author. Judge Brunson expressed his appreciation to the club for the work does in New Brockton. He also mentioned the many improvements that have been made at both courthouses and invited everyone to visit them. Judge Brunson gave a brief history of Coffee County, excerpts of which follow: Coffee Coanty's history dates back to its rivers, the major one of which is the Pea. This river was originally called the "Talakhatchee" Talak meaning Pea and Hatchee meaning creek), but white settlers rejected this name and chose to use the English name of Pea. However,

The Three Seasons Garden Club they did accept the name of th Choctawhatchee River, sister stream of the Pea, into which it flows. The Pea River originates in Bullock County, and is about 120 miles in length, flowing through Bullock, Pike, Barbour, Dale, Coffee and Geneva counties, with about 50 miles of it in Coffee County. A large portion of the river flows over a rock bottom. At the time of Indian occupation the area around the river was hunting grounds, and the river was also the mode of transportation > River area were the Yuchi tribe, belonging to the Lower Creek nation. Settlers in the area came from Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia, to grow King Cotton, and even not easy, it was successful. After the program, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Zion Chapel News Briefs

BASKETBALL NEWS BY: RICHIE RUGG

The Zion Chapel varsity came out and jumped all over New Brockton with a full court press that shook up the Gamecocks, but due to foul trouble, Zior had to drop the press. The whole game see-sawed back and forth between the Rebels and Gamecocks. The game was full of excitement and had ver few fouls called on either team. The leading scorer was Greg Flowers with 19 to lead both teams. Other scorers were Lynor Duncan with 8, Frankie Downing with 9, Tony Liptrot had 6, while Dennis Evans added 3 and Timmie Havnes 2. Brockton was led by Hornsby with 15 and Patterson 10 while

Friday night, Jan. 18, the Zion Chapel Gym exploded with excitement as Zion Chapel prepared to meet New Brockton. The Zion Chapel B-team fell hind and at the start of the second quarter was trailing New Brockton 8-18 but with the outstanding play of the whole B-team squad, Zion went in at halftime with a 22-20 lead. The second half proved to be just as exciting as the first led by the shooting and rebounds of Robert Smith. The games leading scorers were Zion's Robert Smith with 14, Richie Rugg with 11, Kim Moultry 10, Bobby Hill 7. For New Brockton Michael McWaters had 7 while Leon Knox and Myron Williams added 6 points each.

YEARBOOK STAFF HEARS FROM HERFF-JONES

The Rebel '85 staff recently received a letter from Mrs. Lou Johnson who s Zion Chapel's customer service adviser at Herff-Jones Yearbooks in Montgomery, Alabama. The letter addressed to Mrs. Rachel Bryan was a letter of commendation. The letter read: "Thanks for sending your most recent segment of copy. Mrs. Yvonne Hawkins, who did the internal check on the pages, made special note to tell me how neat and well-done they were. We appreciate the time you and the staff took to make our job easier, and want to commend them for their fine work. Please give the staff our thanks, and keep up the good work!" Mrs. Bryan said, "I don't remember ever receiving a letter like this about our yearbook work. I am proud of this staff, their work and the leadership of that the members are enjoying this yearbook officers, Janet Stewart, Kim Brunson and Wendy Nelson."

PIPES DIDN'T FREEZE NO SCHOOL IN JULY!

Thick blankets, fuzzy leg warmers, and beloved soap operas are the essential items needed for the recent cold weather. For the county schools, Monday January 21 was a holiday but during the afternoon students and teachers found out that their holiday would be extended one day because of frozen water pipes at some of the county

Zion Chapel was lucky that there were no frozen or busted pipes thanks to Maintenance Engineer Marlin Mobley who kept the boiler stoked with coal. The high school building is heated by steam that is carried through pipes under the building to radiators in each of the rooms. By keeping the building heated the pipes underneath are kept warm enough not to freeze. It was found that the students and teachers enjoyed the one extra day but are happy that there was no damage to the building. Who wants to make up

New Plans For

Class

The first semester at Z.C. everyne turned in two newsstory ideas each week. Mrs. Bryan selected the ones to go in the newspaper and assigned one to three people to write each story. She picked the best one o go in the paper.

In the second semester, the ournalism class is becoming familiar with finding their own news stories and gathering the information Since everyone is getting their own stories, there is wider and better overage of what's going on. When the students had to turn in two story ideas they tended not to search hard or the story ideas and they all turned in the same ideas -- those most obvious. In nine weeks a student has to come up with nine story ideas and these are combined

The students let their story ideas be known by writing them on a oster. The poster has each urnalism student's name and nine blocks to the right. A student simply writes his or her idea in a block provided for that week. The first student to post a story gets it. All stories written will not be printed each week. The eight to ten best stories will be chosen for the

The Elba Tigers saw their losing streak reach five games last week and with only two weeks left until the Area tournament the chances of a winning season look slim. Elba hasn't lost because of a lack of effort in recent weeks it has lost to better teams who had good nights on the court. The Tigers are at home Friday night against highly-ranked Zion Chapel and then again Zion Chapel battle. The nightcap, set Tuesday night against Enterprise; so c'mon out and watch a game. Your support might not make the difference - but it sure won't hurt!

I'd like to remind everyone about the Coffee County Jr. High Basketball Tournament that starts tonight (Thursday) at the Elba High gym. A total of three games will be played tonight, with four games on tap for Saturday. The tourney was revived by the Elba Athletic Club in an attempt to give the junior high teams a chance to win a "true" county championship, and at the same time allow the club to raise funds to help the Elba High School Athletic Department The tourney will be a good chance to see the county's top young athletes in action. So support the athletic club and attend the tourney.

Here's a quick look at each team's report card for last week: Zion Chapel got a low mark for enthusiasm, but its talent shone through and the Rebels posted two additional wins. Zion Chapel is as good as it wants

Kinston got an A in effort as it won over Brantley and continued to fight its way out of a shooting slump. The Bulldogs aren't blessed with height or a bunch of talent, but they give it all they've got. New Brockton won one and lost one last week, but played well in both games and appear to be peaking. The Gamecocks aren't a powerhouse but

The New Brockton B team rallied from a 10-point deficit in the closing minutes to edge Houston County 47-44. The Gamecocks hit on 14 o clock. The Eagles had a chance to tie 18 free-throws in the fourth quarter to pull out the win. Michael McWaters scored 1 as Kinston claimed the exciting points to lead New Brockton.

4-H'ers in Coffee County have been busy this school year, not only with school work, but also with 4-H activities. In December all 4, 5 and 6th grade 4-H'ers were encouraged to enter the cookie contests. There were 136 people participating in this. The students were given a recipe, they were to bake the cookies at home, then bring three cookies to school for judging. Every club then had winners.

A woodworking plan was also given to interested youth. For the junior age 4-H'ers (9-14), the plan was a key holder. The seniors (14-19) were to make a small book shelf. There were 72 items turned in from throughout the county. Winners were chosen from clubs participating, then county winners were selected. The county winners in the junior division were: 1st place, Carrie Weeks from Kinston; 2nd place, Jody Danner from Zion Chapel; and 3rd place, Chris Dewberry, also from Zion Chapel. The winners in the senior division were: 1st, Michael Herrington, New Brockton; 2nd, Jeff Hussey, Zion Chapel; and 3rd, Lee Miller, New Brockton. Congratulations to each of Coffee County participates in the national observance of Farm City Week. This year 4-H'ers took part in this also. Students at Goodman and New Brockton were asked to make 4-9 grades. Angela Hughes has posters pertaining to the interaction of rural and urban areas. Twentytwo posters were turned in. These were then placed in businesses throughout the area.

Also, in conjunction to Farm City Week, the Coffee County 4-H Gold Key Fraternity had for its November meeting "Farm City Week Observance." A speaker related very well how the farmer carries the load, in food production, for the city 4-H REPORT

The money is to preserve the lease agreement on the Pea River Dam site, presently leased to Elba Pea River Hydro Dam, Inc. Shown with English and McKenzie are from left: Whit Brantley, engineer, and Larry Bradford, head of the firm. McKenzie said he was excited about the prospects of the project. He noted he was involved in renovating other hydro sites and felt this one was as good as any they were developing. Bradford was reluctant to give a timetable for getting the hydro plant back into the power generation business, but expressed a ray of hope that they wouldn't miss another dry season for installation work. The lease contract calls for a $10,000 annual payment to the city to be made by January 31 each year until the facility begins generating power. At that time the city will receive a percentage of the gross sales each year.

DUI Arrests Increase As

Troopers Work Over

Alabama state troopers arrested 525 drunken drivers during January, including 70 by troopers working a DUI overtime program, according to Col. Byron Prescott, director of the Department of Public Safety. Prescott said troopers began working the overtime program January 11 after the department received a $175,000 federal grant for use in DUI

The funds, received through the ernor's Office of Highway and raffic Safety, are used to pay me salaries to troopers working enforcement exclusively. Prescott said troopers chosen to participate in the program are those who have provem themselves particularly effective in DUI

"This grant has allowed us to remove 70 more drunken drivers from Alabama's roads in the last few weeks before they killed or injured other motorists or pedestrians," said Prescott. "During the course of the grant, which runs through July, we will be able to save countless more lives through the DUI enforcement He said 50 to 60 percent of all traffic fatalities in Alabama are alcohol-related.

In the incident at Fairview, an entire family and a large number of neighbors had to be given shots.

When a vaccinated animal is bitten by a rabid animal, state officials require re-vaccination and a three-month quarantine. If an unvaccinated animal is bitten, the animal must be destroyed or quarantined for a six-month period

Parents are urged to warn their children about unusual behavior in animals, both in pets and outdoor animals. Any wild animal seen during the day in a populated area should be considered potentially dangerous and should be left alone "It is estimated that only 25-30 percent of domestic animals are vaccinated," said Dr. Mancil," and at least 75 percent should be vaccinated to offer minimal protection.
